

To whom it may Concern,

I am sending this letter because I am a concerned parent who continually seeks more involvement in my child's education. Recently I have been directed to a website which I believe your school will find to be extremely valuable. HomeworkNOW.com is the leading school to home communication service in the US.

Used by thousands of K12 schools, HomeworkNOW.com gives teachers/schools the ability to create and post their homework, classroom activities, announcements, notes, files, references, extra credit, images, important dates, newsletters and more on the Internet and gives students and parents easy 24 hour access to that information through a Web browser and now mobile device such as a cell phone or PDA.

Designed by educators who understand the complexities and budget limitations in our schools, HomeworkNOW.com is provided to schools at a cost next to nothing as the nationally recognized, on-line program receives its funding from outside non-advertising business technology partners (Such as Verizon Wireless who is now featuring HomeworkNOW.com through its wireless web so that students and parents can quickly connect with school information on the go). Individual teachers may purchase accounts for $19 for one full year. If a school wide solution is what you are interested in, school wide, unlimited teacher accounts are available for an entire school, with a school wide subscription fee of only $175 yearly. Again, that is only $175 for an unlimited number of teacher accounts in a school. District wide and multi-year subscription discounts are available. As HomeworkNOW.com is an Internet based managed service, there is no infrastructure, software, or personnel cost needed to support this service.

HomeworkNOW.com is willing to offer your school a free school wide trial for 30 days. Details to take advantage of this free trial can be found on the HomeworkNOW.com website (<http://www.homeworknow.com>). The site offers a simple tutorial so that your teachers can learn how to use the service within minutes.

HomeworkNOW.com is truly revolutionary as it gives schools the power to use the Internet as an important educational tool. This allows students to stay in touch, and more importantly, parents to stay involved and be proactive with their children's education.

I am hoping this letter will be enough of an incentive to have your school adopt this revolutionary service. Again, the folks at HomeworkNOW.com can be contacted at their website (<http://www.homeworknow.com>) or by phone at 888-397-6297.

Best Regards,
